Lysistrata Fall 2006

90 Miles off Broadway proudly presents Aristophanes' hilarious topical, and very sexy peace comedy Lysistrata on November 10, 11 and November 17, 18, and 19 at the Highland High School on Pancake Hollow Road. It is community theatre at its best, displaying the comedic talents of the 90 Miles Ensemble along with other Hudson Valley community members. This production is directed by Guy Anthony who has previously directed A Midsummer Night's Dream, NINE, Crimes of the Heart, Camelot, and Two by Two for 90 Miles off Broadway.

In this updated classic Greek comedy, there is no sex in the city when the heroine, Lysistrata, tired of the decades-long Peloponnesian War, bands together with women from both sides of the conflict to take an oath to withhold sex from their husbands until the fighting ends. The women use their brains, their sensuality, and their convictions to end the war.
