

The Woman

The Woman is an acidic commentary on the pampered lives and power struggles of various wealthy Manhattan socialites and the gossip that propels and damages their relationships. While men frequently are the subject of their lively discussions and play an important role in the action on-stage, they are strictly characters mentioned but never seen.

"The Women"
By Clare Boothe Luce

"The women who inspire this play deserved to be smacked across the head with a meat ax and that, I flatter myself, is exactly what I smacked them with."
